

CPFI Educational Affairs Committee Report

June 4, 2026

The Educational Affairs Committee has continued working diligently to advance meaningful educational opportunities that provide value to as well as encourage, equip, and strengthen CPFI members in their professional practice and spiritual walk. Throughout the past year, committee members have collaborated to coordinate continuing education programming, recruit outstanding speakers, plan devotional and worship experiences, and further develop educational offerings that support CPFI's mission and vision.

As part of these ongoing efforts, the committee successfully hosted three CPFI webinars during the past year. These webinar offerings provided meaningful continuing education and spiritual encouragement while also creating additional opportunities for engagement throughout the year beyond the annual conference. Attendance and feedback have been very positive, and plans are currently underway for two additional webinars to be offered during the fall of 2026, tentatively scheduled for September and November.

In addition, four national CPFI prayer breakfasts were planned and successfully executed over the past year. These gatherings took place in conjunction with the AACP, ACCP, ASHP, and APhA national meetings and provided meaningful opportunities for fellowship, encouragement, prayer, and ministry among pharmacists, student pharmacists, and colleagues from across the country.

The committee continues to intentionally review attendee evaluations and feedback from prior conferences in order to strengthen future programming and better understand the educational and spiritual needs of members. Suggestions from previous conferences have helped guide topic selection, speaker recruitment, and conference structure planning.

The 2026 Annual Conference is shaping up to be an exceptional gathering with an array of incredibly gifted speakers and musicians participating throughout the week. The conference will offer up to 12 hours of continuing education along with four devotional sessions designed to encourage attendees spiritually and professionally. In addition, strong worship sets are planned throughout the conference to help foster meaningful times of worship, fellowship, and spiritual renewal.

Intentional efforts have again been made to recruit nationally respected speakers as well as emerging voices within CPFI membership who can contribute both educational excellence and spiritual encouragement. Members of the CPFI Board of Directors continue to be highlighted and involved throughout conference programming in various ways.

The Educational Affairs Committee remains grateful for the privilege of serving Christ and our world through these educational initiatives. We are excited about the continued opportunities to provide relevant educational programming that equips pharmacists, student pharmacists, and colleagues to impact their profession and communities for God's glory.
