

Daniel A. Hussar is Dean Emeritus and Remington Professor of Pharmacy Emeritus at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy at the University of the Sciences. He has served as a member of the Board of Trustees and as Honorary President of the American Pharmacists Association, and is a Past President of the Drug Information Association and the Pennsylvania Pharmacists Association. He has served on the Board of Directors of World Vision and the Board of Directors of Christian Pharmacists Fellowship International. He is a recipient of the Remington Honor Medal of the American Pharmacists Association and the Distinguished Pharmacy Educator Award of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

Dr. Hussar's primary interests are in the areas of new drugs, drug interactions, patient safety, and issues facing the profession of pharmacy, and he has written and spoken extensively on these subjects. For many years he has published articles in several professional journals on the new medications that have been marketed in the United States. He serves as the Author/Editor of The Pharmacist Activist monthly newsletter.
